DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Anscher (4188178).

Anscher teaches the claimed invention having a mold comprising two plates (31, 33) having respective holes (35, 39), two pins (37, 41) each situated in one of the holes and each having a shape (43, 45) for molding an undercut region in a molded part, wherein the pins abut with each other and align with each other to form a single bore in the molded part (see Col. 2, lines 59-60).

Anscher fails to teach means responsive to a complete opening of the mold for pulling the pins from the undercut regions after the molded part has been released from the mold cavity.

However, Anscher does teach movable pins and movable plates (Col. 2, lines 66 through Col. 3, line 4). Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to recognize that Anscher is capable of operating the means responsive to a complete opening of the mold for pulling the pins from the undercut regions after the molded part has been released from the mold cavity.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments, see page 2, filed 12/4/2003, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 14 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) over Kutik have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of Anscher.

Anscher teaches the claimed invention including two pins that abut one another and both having undercut portions.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. McCullough, Bourdon et al, Mangone, Jr and Tibiletti.
